

WESTMINSTER BRIDGE.—The question of rebuilding this venerable but dilapidated structure, is, we hope, at length likely to be settled. A commission has been appointed by the Lords of the Treasury, to consider the whole question of site, style, and material, and to report, without delay, with a view to immediate operations. The commission includes the names of Lord Seymour, the Earl of Londsdale, Lord Sudeley, Lord Robert Grosvenor, Sir Robert Inglis, Bart., Rt. Hon. C. T. D'Eyncourt, and Mr. Alderman Humphrey. Their first meeting was held at the Office of Woods, on Thursday, the 29th ult.
